

Budget Cuts of Current Term Climb to Total Of 293 Million

House Funds Group Cuts Nearly 3 Million From Bill

OPEN NEW MOVE

Senate Bloc Would Use Part of Treasury Working Cash

Washington—(AP)—The house appropriations committee raised the total of budget cuts made in congress this year to $293,000,000 today. At the same time a movement developed in the senate to spend part of the treasury's $1,000,000,000 working cash, which treasury officials contend should be kept on hand for use in event of an emergency.

Both developments reflected the election-year desire of members of congress to avoid new taxes or an increase in the limit on the national debt.

In its latest whack at President Roosevelt's budget estimates, the committee trimmed $2,986,277 from the interior department bill. Of the funds refused, $250,000 had been ticketed for the Byrd Antarctic expedition. In this connection, the committee said it had been misinformed last year as to how much longer the expedition was going to be needing appropriations.

Farm Problems Up

The senate responded to praise of accomplishments of the Roosevelt administration, which began seven years ago today.

Senator Barkley, the Democratic leader, said in an anniversary speech that the New Deal had helped labor and business alike.

Farm problems came up again in a bill proposed by Chairman Jones (D-Texas) of the house agriculture committee and Senators Wheeler (D-Mont.), Bankhead (D-Ala.) and LaFollette (D-Wis.) They proposed that the farm loan system be altered to make land banks self-supporting and at the same time cut the interest rate paid by farmers.

A spokesman for 11 motion picture companies told the house labor committee that congress, in amending the Wagner labor act, should declare the right of employees to discharge workers for normal causes.

Matthew Wall, speaking for an organization fathered by a group of A. F. of L. unions, and L. J. Taber, master of the National Grange, testified before the senate finance committee in opposition to extension of the reciprocal trade program.

Tax Bill Hearings

Chairman Doughton (D-N. C.) announced that a house ways and means subcommittee would begin hearings soon on the Patman chain store tax bill.

General interest was shown in the senate in the proposal to spend some of the treasury's working cash now, President Roosevelt's budget called for $480,000,000 of new taxes for extra defense needs, but also provided that the treasury carry a billion-dollar working balance through the next fiscal year. Secretary Morgenthau has argued that such a balance is necessary to meet any emergency situation, such as war.

While two farm state senators, speaking anonymously, said they were restoring the budget in an effort to determine whether the working balance could be reduced, Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) told reporters:

Would Use Funds

"I can't see why some of those funds should not be used. We should make provision for parity payments to the farmer, and even if we appropriate that money, there would be no reason to increase the $45-100,000,000 debt limitation or raise taxes. It seems to me that is too much cash to carry on the treasury books."

Wheeler said he also favored using some of the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund for current expenditures if necessary.

Senator Adams (D-Colo.) declared that the treasury's working balance had been successful in the past. He said that at least half of the working cash was borrowed money and that the government thus was paying interest unnecessarily.

Court Modifies, Affirms Order Of Labor Board

Holds Contract Violated Law but Upholds Rights of Individuals

Washington—(AP)—The supreme court today affirmed with a modification on a national labor board order directing the National License company of Brooklyn, N. Y. to cease "domination" of a union of company employees.

The board's original order told the company to inform its employees that a contract with the employees' collective bargaining committee was void.

The supreme court amended this to provide that the contract violated the labor relations act but that individual employees were free to assert any legal rights they may have acquired under such contracts.

Justice Stone delivered the majority opinion. Justices Douglas and Black opposed the modification. Justice Murphy did not participate.

Modifies Ruling

The decision modified a ruling by the federal circuit court at New York in favor of the labor board. It was today's only opinion.

Among other actions the court agreed to review a circuit court decision holding that children have a right to refuse to salute the American flag at the opening of school exercises. The litigation involved validity of a resolution adopted by the Minersville, Pa. school board.

In the labor case, one of the chief questions, in the words of Stone's decision, was "whether the board has authority to order an employer not to enforce contracts with its employees found to have been procured in violation of the national labor relations act and to contain provisions violating that act, in the absence of the employees as parties to the proceeding."

The court also found that the labor board had this power.

John Hart Hit While Crossing Street Intersection

THREE DIE IN STATE

Two Hurt as Seven Other Accidents Occur in Appleton Area

John Hart, 82, 312 Desnoyer street, Kaukauna, was injured fatally at 7:45 last evening when struck by a car as he was walking across the Wisconsin avenue and Lawe street intersection, Kaukauna. The car was driven by Elmer Joachim, route 2, DePere. Two other persons were killed in automobile accidents in the state over the weekend in the Appleton area.

Hart, who died at 6:45 this morning at Appleton, was walking west on Wisconsin avenue and Joachim was driving south on Lawe street when the accident occurred, according to Kaukauna police. Joachim said he did not see the pedestrian until a moment before the car struck him. Hart was near the northwest corner of the intersection when struck and was carried to the middle of the intersection by the car.

An inquest will be held at Kaukauna at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon in the traffic death, the third in Outagamie county this year. Raymond P. Dohr, district attorney, said today. A coroner's jury composed of J. B. Delbridge, W. H. Cooper, William Doering, Charles Phillips, Bryan Reardon and William Richardson, Kaukauna, viewed the body this morning. The fatal accident is the second in less than a year at the Kaukauna street crossing. A. C. McIntyre, Kaukauna, was the victim in a similar accident last July.

Rescues Four Persons From River After Two Autos Leave Highway

McFarland, Wis.—(AP)—Jergen Offerdahl, McFarland, waded 25 feet into the Yahara river about 1:30 a. m. Sunday and saved four persons from drowning after their automobiles had left the road and landed upside down in four feet of water.

Those saved were Marvin Skavlem, 25, Stoughton, who suffered fractured ribs; Mr. and Mrs. Hector Berg, Stoughton, and Ole Venden, 23, Edgerton. The latter suffered cuts and bruises.

Mrs. Marvin Skavlem, who, with the Bergs, was riding in her husband's car, was thrown from the automobile before it plunged into the river. Vanden was riding alone.

The accident occurred on highway 51, Offerdahl, who lives near the scene, heard the crash and went to the rescue. County police said the cars had sunk in the mud of the river and it would have been almost impossible for the occupants to get out without help.

Medical Group May Face Court

Appeals Tribunal Upholds Indictment Under Anti-Trust Act

Washington—(AP)—The United States court of appeals ruled today that the justice department could prosecute the American Medical Association on charges of violating the Sherman anti-trust act.

It sustained the validity of an indictment which charged that the A. M. A., two of its affiliates and 20 individual physicians had acted in restraint of trade by opposing activities of a group health association in Washington.

By this action the court reversed a decision of the district court which had upheld a demurrer in which the A. M. A. pleaded that the practice of medicine was a "learned profession" rather than a trade and therefore not subject to prosecution.

The case is therefore sent back to district court for trial.

The appellate court held that the practice of medicine fell within the scope of the Sherman anti-trust act.

Chicago

Officials of the American Medical association said today the organization no doubt "would at once apply to the United States Supreme Court for a definite decision as to whether or not the practice of a profession can be considered to come within the scope of the Sherman anti-trust law."

Jeweler Kills 2 Schoolboys in His Shop in Illinois

Shoots After Being Awakened by Burglar Alarm; Inquest Is Ordered

Lombard, Ill.—(AP)—Dupage County Coroner Paul A. Isherwood today postponed until March 11 an inquest into the deaths of two teenage schoolboys who were shot fatally by a 59-year-old jeweler when he found them ransacking his repair shop.

Lombard, Ill.—(AP)—A coroner's inquest was planned today into the deaths of two teenage schoolboys who were shot fatally by a 59-year-old jeweler when he said he found them ransacking his repair shop.

In the pockets of the dead youths—John McKenna, 14, and Robert M. McWilliams, 16—police found three wrist watch straps valued at approximately $1.50.

The jeweler, Robert A. Thomas, who was not held, told Police Chief Richard Groote this story: The shooting which occurred Saturday night:

Tried to Call Police

Awakened by a home-made burglar alarm, he grabbed a .32-20 calibre big-game rifle and entered his small workshop at the rear of the Thomas residence.

When he saw flashes of light he went back to the house and tried to call police but was unable to get through.

"I knew then that I was on my own. I hustled back to the shop and jumped inside. Ten feet away a shadow moved. I fired one shot from the rifle and the form dropped."

"Another shadow beside the first one ducked. I fired as he went down. He apparently crawled under the work bench. I jumped around the end of the bench and saw his head. I fired again and hit him in the head."

The boys called police, who found the boys dead. The McKenna boy shot through the heart and his companion shot in the head. Neither of the youths was armed.

Modeling Mouse Is Caught in Methodist Parsonage in Illinois

Pastor Ralph Fitch thought other members of the family were playing tricks on him—and the other members of the family suspected one another. Finally they compared notes each said he had been hearing faint pings of what was distinctly a Swiss rodent, as distinguished from the hill-billy type.

Hence the name Edelweiss for the caged prisoner, who is now on display.

2,000 Flee Homes as Large Part of Pennsylvania City Settles Into Old Coal Mine

Shenandoah, Pa.—(AP)—A 16-block business and residential section of Shenandoah began to settle into a coal mine today. City officials said property damage would reach $1,000,000.

Upwards of 2,000 persons fled their homes, aroused by a rumbling sound, then the three-blast alarm of the town fire siren.

The ground began to settle at 1 a. m. by noon parts of the affected regions had subsided 12 to 20 inches. Chief of Police Frank Alinsky said there was nothing to indicate how soon the sinking might cease. He said no one was injured.

Such caveins, reported frequently in the long-mined anthracite fields, sometimes continue 12 to 24 hours. Widening cracks raked in the brick walls of business buildings and factories. Roofs sagged and walls bulged in many of the 500 homes in the section.

Like "Quake Fissures"

Cracks, described by townspeople as resembling "earthquake fissures," split street pavements. Some were several feet wide and six to eight feet deep.

Residents attributed the steady subsidence to a collapse of old anthracite workings beneath the section. They said the collapse probably was caused by rain that had fallen for 24 hours.

Soon after the first alarm some houses had sagged so that doors were jammed and occupants had to escape through windows. Police then organized a squad of volunteers to arouse the neighborhood, house by house.

The area affected was roped off. Water and gas mains broke with the first sinking. They were shut off, meanwhile, amid fear of fires, the entire town was without water. The pumping plant is in the settling area.

Crowds from all parts of town lined the ropes. Women sobbed, merchants closed their stores.

Russians Trying To Keep Supplies Away From Viipuri

Claim Two New Positions Taken in Encircling Movement

Moscow—(AP)—Red forces closing in on Viipuri reported new advances to the north and south of the shell-shattered port city today and indicated strategy of encircling it and severing all supply lines before the knockout blow.

Two newly won positions were Tupperanssaari, a Bay of Viipuri island 15 miles to the south, and Saarela, a hamlet an undisclosed number of miles to the north, the red army announced.

On the island, the reds reported capturing six fortifications, five of them iron and concrete forts with heavy coast defense guns in full working order. At Saarela, the Russians said they took the fully equipped headquarters of a "large military formation" and four 75-millimeter guns.

The communists reporting the gains did not mention fighting in Viipuri itself, into which the Russians had said they battled their way Saturday, seizing the railway station and the surrounding southern end of town.

London Press Sees Dissatisfaction With War Leaders

FEAR 108 DEAD

Nazi Bomber First to Raid Shipping West Of Strait of Dover

London—(AP)—Rumblings of dissatisfaction with Britain's war leadership sounded today in the press with reports of the first German aerial attack in the English channel.

A Heinkel bomber swooped on the 8,441-ton liner Domala with bombs and machine-gun fire, probably killing 108 persons—the heaviest toll aboard a merchantman since the Athenia went down with a death list of 113 on the first day of the war last Sept. 3.

Never before had a German warplane raided shipping west of the Strait of Dover.

The attack occurred about dawn Saturday. It and five other week-end blows to British shipping became known amid mixed foreboding and confidence over the course of the six-month-old war.

It was disclosed later that a German plane bombed and machine-gunned the Dutch freighter Jonge Willem before the steamer went to the aid of the Domala. It was believed to have been the same plane that attacked the British vessel.

A crewman said the plane dived on the Jonge Willem and dropped a bomb which fell about 20 feet away and also attacked the ship with machine guns. There were no casualties.

"A little later," the crewman said, "we saw flames several miles away and steamed to the spot."

Although the Daily Mail found "proof of our supremacy" in the activities of the British navy and air force, it warned of the necessity of knowing "we have the right men" in the government.

Hints at Changes

"It may become necessary to inquire whether we are as well served as we should be by the higher command of the Royal Air Force," it declared, "and whether these posts should not be filled with younger officers familiar with up-to-date machines and strategy and tactics appropriate to their use."

The Domala, towed to an undisclosed port after bombs had set her afire and shattered her bridge, was the first big British passenger ship victim of German warplanes.

Of 30 persons aboard, 20 Britons and 88 British Indians were feared lost. The Domala carried 253 Lascars being repatriated from internment in German ports. She sailed from Antwerp, Belgium.

Many were said to have been killed in their bunks when the plane dived and swept the ship's decks with machine-gun bullets.

Rescue Ships Busy

Nine Britons and 42 Indians were rescued by a Netherlands ship and landed at a south coast English port. The others were rescued by British ships.

One eye-witness said the bomber carried full navigation lights, and the Domala's crew mistook it for a British plane until it dropped to 40 feet above the ship and released the first bomb. The admiralty said four bombs were dropped, and three scored hits.

"We were blazing from stem to stern in 20 minutes," he said. "After the first bomb the plane sprayed the deck with machine-gun fire."

Another survivor said the passengers and crew were attacked after they fled the ship.

"I was in a small lifeboat with 15 others," he said. "Every few seconds the plane dived and poured lead into our sides."

Saw Lifeboat Sink

"After the third raid, I jumped into the water and crawled on a raft. It contained a dead Lascar, his body riddled with bullets. Five minutes later, I saw the lifeboat sink with my dead comrades."

Many of the survivors were injured, and several died of exposure.

The sinking of another, unidentified British vessel was reported yesterday at Amsterdam when two Netherlands ships, the 2,213-ton Sint Anna and the 2,243-ton Schiedam, reached port.

Their crews said they took cover and escaped bullets from a warplane, but that they saw it bomb and sink the British ship.

The British steamer Albano, 1,176 tons, sank in the North sea yesterday after striking a mine which, survivors said, lifted the ship from the water. Two persons were killed.

The Netherlands freighter Lamburg, 345 tons, was said to have been raked with machine-gun fire at sea by a German plane.

Two crewmen were killed when the 710-ton British steamer Cato, also believed to have struck a mine, sank off the west coast. There still were 11 missing.

The Scottish hawler Ben Allow was lost with a crew of nine in an explosion which blew up the vessel off the Scottish east coast.

Barkley Praises New Deal Program In Senate Speech

Says Improvements Will Be Made In Administration Labor Program

Washington — (U) — Democratic Leader Barkley, praising accomplishments of the Roosevelt administration, predicted today that federal machinery for "orderly collective bargaining" would be "perfected" to function more adequately and effectively.

Speaking in the senate on the seventh anniversary of President Roosevelt's first inauguration, Barkley said that improvements in the government's labor setup would come "as time moves on."

There have been indications that the senate would not approve any changes in the Wagner labor law at this session, and Barkley did not indicate whether legislative action would be sought.

He said the president's continued interest in the rights of labor "has brought upon him more violent criticism than any of his other policies," and called it "inevitable" that "the did not receive as complete cooperation as he might have desired from the groups whose interests he championed."

Too Many Unemployed

He declared that New Deal policies had contributed to the reduction of unemployment from 25 to 15 percent.

"It is a regrettable fact," he said, "that in spite of the efforts we have made, there are still too many unemployed people in the country. But the New Deal has been successful in reducing unemployment from 25 to 15 percent. And we are now working to reduce it further."

He said the president's continued interest in the rights of labor "has brought upon him more violent criticism than any of his other policies," and called it "inevitable" that "the did not receive as complete cooperation as he might have desired from the groups whose interests he championed."

Attends Services

President Roosevelt read a solemn statement from the Bible today, that "God shall not lift up a sword against nations," at divine services commemorating the seventh anniversary of his first inauguration.

Seated in "the church of the president," St. John's Episcopal, a block from the White House, the chief executive bowed his head while these words from the fourth chapter of Micah were read:

"And they shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

As he has done every March 4, the president drove to St. John's for the annual service. He heard Dr. Endicott Peabody, who was his boyhood headmaster at Groton school, offer a prayer for spiritual guidance for the chief executive and for deliverance "from cruelties of war."

The church was little more than a quarter filled for the services. Members of the cabinet were there, Speaker Bankhead, Senate Majority Leader Barkley, and other individuals high in the administration.

There was no sermon — only hymns, prayers, and responsive readings.

3rd Term Question

The graying president at 58 still gets a kick out of his job, his associates say, despite reports that he is tiring of it.

Rumors continue to float around Capitol corridors that he will favor Secretary Hull or Attorney General Jackson as his successor if he takes himself out of the picture. But no one apparently is ready to state with any definiteness what his position might be when the Democratic convention meets on July 15.

Many politicians believe the confidential report on peace prospects which Undersecretary Welles will bring back from Europe may help the president chart his political course.

Attends Services

In observance of today's anniversary, Mr. Roosevelt decided to attend a special morning service at the "church of the president," St. John's Episcopal, across Lafayette square from the White House.

Tonight the cabinet will entertain him and Mrs. Roosevelt at dinner.

Always the performer of the dramatic and the unexpected, the president attained the seventh milestone of his administration by enlarging on one of his many "firsts." His Panama cruise added more than 4,000 miles to the presidential travel record which he set a year ago. His total now is about 172,000 miles.

Sen. LaFollette Promised Ruling On Teacher Fund

Washington — (U) — Senator LaFollette (D-Wis.) said today he had been assured of a ruling by the bureau of internal revenue whether income from annuities under the Wisconsin teachers' pension plan were deductible from the federal income tax.

The senator, a member of the senate finance committee and the joint committee on internal revenue laws, asked for a clarification of this situation and was assured by Guy T. Helvering, treasury department commissioner, that the question would be given "careful consideration."

LaFollette forwarded to Helvering a letter in which O. H. Plessens, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Education association, said it was his belief "a definite and final ruling should be made and consideration given to the way the Wisconsin law is set up."

Under Wisconsin statutes, income from the Wisconsin teachers' state retirement law is exempt from state income taxes.

For the benefit of legal residents of Wisconsin living in the District of Columbia, LaFollette also asked the Wisconsin tax department for a ruling whether they would be subjected to "double taxation"—federal, state and district income taxes.

Wisconsin residents in the district were anxious to know whether they would be exempt from the state income tax if they must pay the district income tax, he said.

U. S. Corporations Don't Know How Much Debts Total

31 Federal Agencies File Reports for Senator Byrd of Virginia

BY W. B. RAGSDALE

Washington — (U) — A composite financial statement worked out for the 31 federal corporations and their subsidiaries shows that neither they nor the treasury know exactly how much debt they might run up.

Several of the corporations have no limit set on the amount of obligations they may issue. And, in the event of their default, the federal government is responsible for the obligations.

The material was dug out, not by Republicans, but by Senator Byrd (D-Va.), who parted long ago with the financial ideas of the administration. It took eight months for the treasury and the agencies involved to get the material together for him in response to a senate resolution.

Totals on a statement summarizing the assets of the 31 agencies read:

All assets, $115,115,937,592; loans and notes receivable, $8,730,890,716; cash, $732,850,948; investments (other than interagency), $1,350,376,886; accounts and other receivables, $120,465,066; accrued interest receivable, $177,091,957; real estate and business property, $687,693,013; real estate and other property held for sale, $880,905,469; deferred charges, $15,106,305; other assets, $488,521,783; total assets other than inter-agency, $13,158,902,141; total inter-agency assets, $1,957,053,451.

Italy in Strong Protest Against British Blockade

Fascist Regime Declares Interests 'Seriously Injured'

Rome — (U) — A rupture of the British-Italian "gentlemen's agreement" regulating the Mediterranean relations of the two countries appeared threatened today as a result of the British blockade of Italian sea-borne coal imports from Germany.

Italy, asserting that her interests were "seriously injured" by this blockade, made public a vigorous protest against the effects on non-belligerent nations of Britain's "economic war."

The note, bristling with charges of illegality, was delivered yesterday to the British embassy. The coal blockade, it said, "is of a kind to disturb and compromise the economic and political relations" established by the agreement April 16, 1938.

While the coal blockade was the immediate occasion for the protest, the Italian note included a general complaint against the entire system of contraband control.

Bucks U. S. Protests

Seconding the Italian protests against interference with the mails, the note called such acts "flagrant violation" of postal secrecy which the eleventh Hague convention of 1907 "explicitly intended to guarantee."

Diplomats considered the Italian protest strong and the newspaper Il Popolo di Roma described it as "measured in form but crushing in content."

Various informed Italians previously had seen the blockade as political pressure to force Italy to sell England arms instead of agricultural products in return for substituted Welsh coal.

The newspaper Il Tevere charged Britain with having attempted to deliver "two blows in one against Italy" through the blockade.

"With the first seeking to monopolize the products of Italian heavy

Fascist Regime Declares Interests 'Seriously Injured'

Rome — (U) — A rupture of the British-Italian "gentlemen's agreement" regulating the Mediterranean relations of the two countries appeared threatened today as a result of the British blockade of Italian sea-borne coal imports from Germany.

Italy, asserting that her interests were "seriously injured" by this blockade, made public a vigorous protest against the effects on non-belligerent nations of Britain's "economic war."

The note, bristling with charges of illegality, was delivered yesterday to the British embassy. The coal blockade, it said, "is of a kind to disturb and compromise the economic and political relations" established by the agreement April 16, 1938.

While the coal blockade was the immediate occasion for the protest, the Italian note included a general complaint against the entire system of contraband control.

Bucks U. S. Protests

Seconding the Italian protests against interference with the mails, the note called such acts "flagrant violation" of postal secrecy which the eleventh Hague convention of 1907 "explicitly intended to guarantee."

Diplomats considered the Italian protest strong and the newspaper Il Popolo di Roma described it as "measured in form but crushing in content."

Various informed Italians previously had seen the blockade as political pressure to force Italy to sell England arms instead of agricultural products in return for substituted Welsh coal.

The newspaper Il Tevere charged Britain with having attempted to deliver "two blows in one against Italy" through the blockade.

Goofy Gazette Says Man Who Can't Drive Heads Auto Club

BY GLADWIN HILL

New York — (U) — Screw things have been happening so fast lately that the curiosity chroniclers are running on their heels, instead of just walking on them.

Here, hot off the press and brimming with the balmy, is your goofy gazette for the last fiscal, and calendar, week:

World news . . . Will Cheek, who can't drive a car, was elected president of the Nashville, Tenn., Automobile club . . . The army asked congress for an appropriation of five cents.

War Dept. . . A Frenchman was hit on the head by a bundle of German propaganda from an airplane . . . And a British soldier was put out of action when the cold weather froze his false teeth in a glass of water.

Courtroom capers . . . A New York judge got a notice to appear for jury duty . . . And a Philadelphia lawyer argued so vehemently his pants fell down.

The Dramas . . . A Philadelphia girl was arrested for doing what the state liquor board called a "Chamberlain dance"—i. e., clad only in an umbrella . . . And after the Boston censor objected to the nudity of three performers in a musical comedy, it was disclosed that they were dummies.

Dept. of Higher Education . . . University of Oregon students asked the city council to establish a lane on the highway for thumbs . . . And Tampa, Fla., High school boys started getting permanent waves.

Lonelyhearts column . . . A London judge ruled that happiness was not a normal element of marriage . . . An Indianapolis minister placed a section of his church "reserved for henpecked husbands" and preached that "no man amounts to anything unless he has a nagging wife."

Fin, fur, and Feather Dept. . . An 8-year-old Los Angeles boy fishing in a manhole, caught a 26-inch trout . . . An Omaha woman's dog started taking walks after lunch and coming home plastered . . . And a British athlete fainted twice at his wedding.

"Second Term" Talk

Interests Michigan

Lansing, Mich. — (U) — "Third term" talk sweeps the nation. In Michigan, it's "second term" talk, as well, and proportionately just as sweeping.

Furthermore, it was plain today, from the expressed attitude of Gov. Luren D. Dickinson, that Michigan must needs go on speculating on the second term for months to come.

The little old man in the governor's chair, nationally known for his views on morals, wouldn't say "yes" and wouldn't say "no" in a statement regarding 1940 plans, but the implication that he would run to succeed himself was there.

Dickinson will be 81 next month. Dickinson, announced he would not decide on a second term until early summer—delaying partly in order to "avoid attempts to obtain political promises."

Dewey May Visit State Before April 2 Vote

Milwaukee — (U) — Edward A. Bacon, of Milwaukee, head of a Wisconsin group backing Thomas E. Dewey of New York for the Republican presidential nomination, said today that "Dewey told me some time ago that he would be delighted to visit Wisconsin" before the April 2 election. Bacon said no definite date had been set for Dewey's visit.

Republican Trek to Ripton Is Abandoned

Ripton — (U) — Plans for a national Republican pilgrimage to Ripton, which claims to have been the birthplace of the G. O. P., have been abandoned. Dr. Silas Evans, head of a corporation formed to promote the event, said the corporation had disbanded because of lack of financial backing for the project.

VANDENBERG DELEGATE

Madison — (U) — The name of Winford H. Johnson, of Kiel, has been filed at the secretary of state's office as a Vandenberg-instructor candidate for delegate to the national Republican convention from the Eighth district. Richard P. Murray, Manitowish, is the other Vandenberg candidate from that district.

Industries it obviously was aimed to disarm Italy under the pretext of commercial exchanges," Il Tevere said. "With the second England attempted through devious means to acquire the services of our merchant marine. Having to go to England to load coal, it is logical that our ships would transport arms there."

Welles' Mission 1st Step Toward Peace-Lawrence

Real Report of Conference With Hitler Has Not Been Published

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington—Anybody who supposed that the president of the United States could send an official envoy to talk with Chancellor Hitler about peace in Europe and that the press would print the next day a detailed account of the conversation must be susceptible to the methods of modern propaganda.

For whatever reason, the press really passed between Sumner Welles and Herr Hitler was not published in the press and what was issued to the newspapers merely constituted the usual smoke-screen to assure the German people and perhaps the outside world that the Nazi government was not weakening in the least.

The same thing will happen when Mr. Welles visits Britain and France. The press dispatches will state in most extreme terms the determination of the British and French to fight to the bitter end. All this is for domestic morale and world consumption. Behind the scenes, however, is a practical understanding on the part of each of the belligerent governments that the present war is a colossal mistake, that its economic consequences for the world are terrific and that some way must be found by a disinterested influence to bring the belligerents out of the war and into peaceful reconstruction.

The Welles mission is really the first toward peace. It is the first of a series of steps looking toward the making of peace through the mediation of the government of the United States. It may take months for the peace effort to succeed, but it has to have a beginning.

No peace overtures are popular in any belligerent country in Europe unless they extensively encompass the complete surrender of the other. But it will be noted that the terms given out to be discussed by the press in Berlin concerned such vague generalities as British sea-power and economic living space—things that might be called "war aims." Yet their very abstractness and vagueness seemed significant to observers here.

Naturally the official press messages will say that each side presented its case vigorously, and the man on the street will be told that there is no chance for peace now. But Britain and France know the extent of Germany's reserves just as much as the Nazis do. The question of what price each government would be willing to pay for peace this year and skip the next two or three years of war is the one that a neutral mediator can explore. Under-secretary Welles went to get information and impressions. He will have seen every important statesman on both sides before he makes his personal report to President Roosevelt. Allowing for exaggerations and bluff on each side, certain common denominators of fact will appear when Mr. Welles gets through with his mission.

Then will come the problem of whether President Roosevelt should make a public or a private plea for peace. He will at least have convinced Germany that America's motives as a mediator are disinterested—something that might not have been possible before the Welles mission was determined upon. Also it would not be surprising if diplomatic relations between Berlin and Washington were promptly re-established so that a more direct channel of communication can be maintained hereafter.

No government at war, of course, likes to be in the position of seeking peace. It's a sign of weakness. But it is also a fact that peace is more seriously discussed behind the scenes in all countries than the public has been led to expect.

President Roosevelt is the recipient of information from various sources. In fact that decision to send Sumner Welles to Europe was made, according to a copyrighted article published in "The United States News" today as a consequence of a visit of two important men from Europe who conveyed officially to Mr. Roosevelt a few weeks ago a belief that a change in the personnel of the Nazi government might be possible if certain peace terms could be secured.

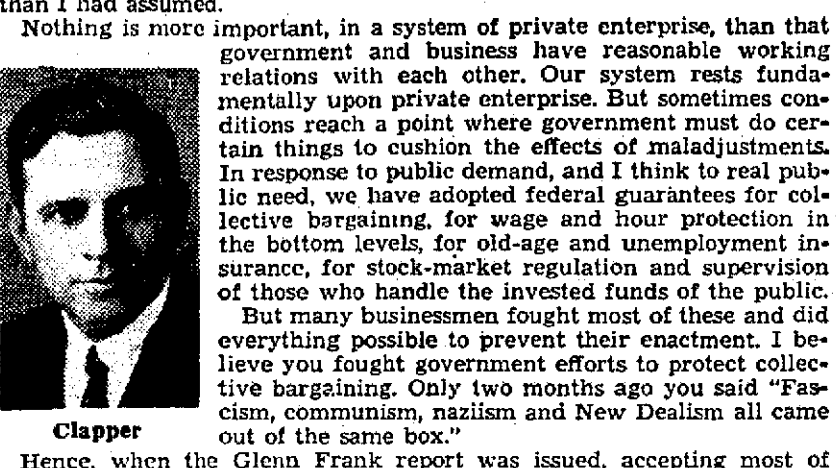

The information is represented to have been of such a significant character—having been relayed after talks with Herr Goering—that Mr. Roosevelt felt it was his duty to investigate the matter officially. This is also reported to have interfered with the president's plan to announce before now his disinclination to be a candidate for a third term—a statement which is not expected to be issued by the White House until after the president is better able to judge whether he can be of further avail as a peacemaker. This cannot be determined naturally till Sumner Welles returns and presents a personal report.

Mr. Welles has had a difficult mission. The press reports from abroad have for obvious reasons given a pessimistic flavor to his trip. Even the fact that Herr Ribbentrop, though a fluent speaker of English, chose to talk in German to Mr. Welles through an interpreter was misconstrued. This method of hearing an important diplomatic conversation twice is not intended as a slur but as aid. Premier Clemenceau understood English but in 1919 at the peace conference sessions of the "big four" he always insisted on hearing a French interpreter before he answered. It was not only a check against inaccuracy, but it gave more time in which to frame an answer.

Every indication here is that the Welles mission was regarded as of extraordinary importance in Berlin and that it is the beginning of a better understanding between the

Clapper Wants His Letter to Weir Given Circulation Too

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER
Washington—Dear Mr. Weir: I find that your letter to me of Feb. 28 has been distributed as a general press release by the Republican national committee. Therefore the controversy must be of more public interest than I had assumed.

Nothing is more important, in a system of private enterprise, than that government and business have reasonable working relations with each other. Our system rests fundamentally upon private enterprise. But sometimes conditions reach a point where government must do certain things to cushion the effects of maladjustments. In response to public demand, and I think to real public need, we have adopted federal guarantees for collective bargaining, for wage and hour protection in the bottom levels, for old-age and unemployment insurance, for stock-market regulation and supervision of those who handle the invested funds of the public. But many businessmen fought most of these and did everything possible to prevent their enactment. I believe you fought government efforts to protect collective bargaining. Only two months ago you said "Fascism, communism, nazism and New Dealism all came out of the same box."

Hence, when the Glenn Frank report was issued, accepting most of these reforms in principle, I said it would be fine if you got behind this report and pushed it. But I doubted if you would in view of your recent speech linking the New Deal as of common origin with communism and nazism.

I am happy to have you say that I am wrong, because a leading and highly respected industrialist like yourself can do much. As you go about in your capacity as chairman of the Republican finance committee, collecting funds, you can induce your business friends to see the light also. For I suspect that some of them are still loyal to the Mr. Weir of old, when you were fighting collective-bargaining legislation and before you saw the great light.

Recalls Report of LaFollette Committee
The LaFollette civil liberties committee report asserts that you were prominent among anti-union forces and that your Weirton Steel company "purchased large quantities of munitions in 1933 during a strike and, in 1934, when there was a threat of a general strike on the issue of union recognition, Weirton Steel company, it will be remembered, was instrumental in incorporating the national labor board under the NIRA when it refused to comply with the board's order for an election to determine employee representation, and obtained an injunction against the board."

You were singled out as an unfortunate example of an anti-union employer by William Green, president of the A. F. of L., in his recent book, "Labor and Democracy." Mr. Green says: "Among the employers whose cases were heard by the labor board (the first board under NIRA) were men like Ernest T. Weir of the Weirton Steel company who met labor with everything to take and nothing to give. These men were determined from the outset to prevent at all costs any and all forms of workers' exercise of their rights. Their decisions were made and their minds were made up not to yield an inch of power or privilege to which they clung. It was interesting and significant that there were relatively few employers with practical direct experience in management who were so recalcitrant and unbending."

Can Assume That Full Report Is Approved
So when you say you fully approve of the Glenn Frank report, German government and the United States government. It would not be surprising if the visit is followed by a further steps to explore peace a few weeks hence.

For the machinery of peace takes a long time to set up even though both sides may recognize the inevitability of a prolonged conflict.

Squeeze Play Is Friend of Over Bidder

BY ELY CULBERTSON

The squeeze play is the most faithful friend that a consistent overbidder can have. When all the guide-posts of sound bidding have been ignored and a declarer finds himself in a contract that he fervently wishes were a little more logical and a little less optimistic, his best course is to call upon the old reliable squeeze. If that fails him, nothing is left except surrender.

The bidding:

1 diamond 1 heart 1 spade Pass
2 diamonds Pass 4 diamonds Pass
4 no trump Pass 5 no trump Pass
7 diamonds Pass Pass Pass

North's bidding was not characterized by pessimism, to say the least. It resembled the work of a professional. It was a bold and aggressive bid, and it was a bid that was not likely to be successful. It was a bid that was not likely to be successful. It was a bid that was not likely to be successful.

When the last trump was played, East could not discard safely. A club discard would establish dummy's suit for three winners; a heart would promote declarer's jack to winning rank. Thus, thru the good luck of finding East with both the heart honors and the only club stopper, the grand slam contract was fulfilled.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

This unusual upswing coiffure is called "zipper." (Note back view.) Small ostrich plumes add a festive note for gala occasions. Curly fashion a high crown and back ends are rolled under from a center part.

Sometimes, even though we do take pains to have our hair in good condition before a permanent wave, it comes out of the machine very frizzy. And that disappoints us no end for we know it means several weeks' time before our hair is silky and manageable again.

If this happens to you ask about that anti-frizz cream which is applied to strands of your hair with a comb and washed off with warm water. It doesn't take the curl out of your hair, but it does take out the frizz. Your hair will be softer and easier to manage.

Many women wave and inquire about permanent machine is the better. Two asked many questions regarding wave machines and it was found that the difference between a good wave and a bad one is in the way the hair is treated. A good wave is one that is treated with care and patience. A bad wave is one that is treated with haste and neglect.

Don't spare the brush either before you get the wave or after you get it. Learn to brush scientifically. Brush from the crown out to the very end of the hair. Brushing not only polishes your hair but it also keeps the scalp and hair length clean. Wipe the brush on a clean towel after every twenty strokes. The more you brush a good permanent wave, the more beautiful it will be—deep, lovely waves and manageable ends which are glossy and not dull!

My leaflet "Reconditioning Tired Hair" prepares you for a nice permanent. If you request it, enclose a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope to cover postage cost.

Lessen Tension for Child With Impediment in Speech

BY ANGELO PATRI

When children are learning to talk they usually stammer. That is because they are learning a new process. They were not born with the power to talk, to think in terms of words, to express their ideas in speech. They came with only the rudiments of speech power. They had to learn the necessary mechanism and then learn to use it.

That is a tremendous undertaking. It is no wonder that the children have to go slowly, feeling their way in this difficult task of learning language. They have to train their muscles and nerves to adjust to the work demanded of them and that is no easy task. If you have ever tried to train your muscles to execute a new movement you have some faint idea of the strain it puts on the mind and body. Add to that situation the newness of the organs, the strangeness of the process and you have a most complicated problem. That is what speech means to little children. They have more ideas than they have power to express them. They are excited about talking, delighted with the idea of being able to make themselves understood, to share with their friends the feelings that possess them. In their haste to say all they know and all they feel through the incomplete speech mechanism they have, they flood the speech area with energy, choke off speech, and stammer.

This is not speech defect. It is a condition of growth. When the child has perfected the growth of his speech mechanism he will not stammer. That is, he won't if you don't frighten him into stammering habits. That is easy to do. Teach a child that he is likely to be pounced upon, scolded, shaken, made to repeat his words again and again to a standard of adult perfection, and you teach him to stammer. You fasten the stammer upon him.

When a little child tries to tell his story all at once and stammers, let him alone and mean it. Keep thinking sympathetically that he is trying hard to talk, that he is having a bad time, and let him know by your attitude that you are interested, and listening, and in no hurry whatever.

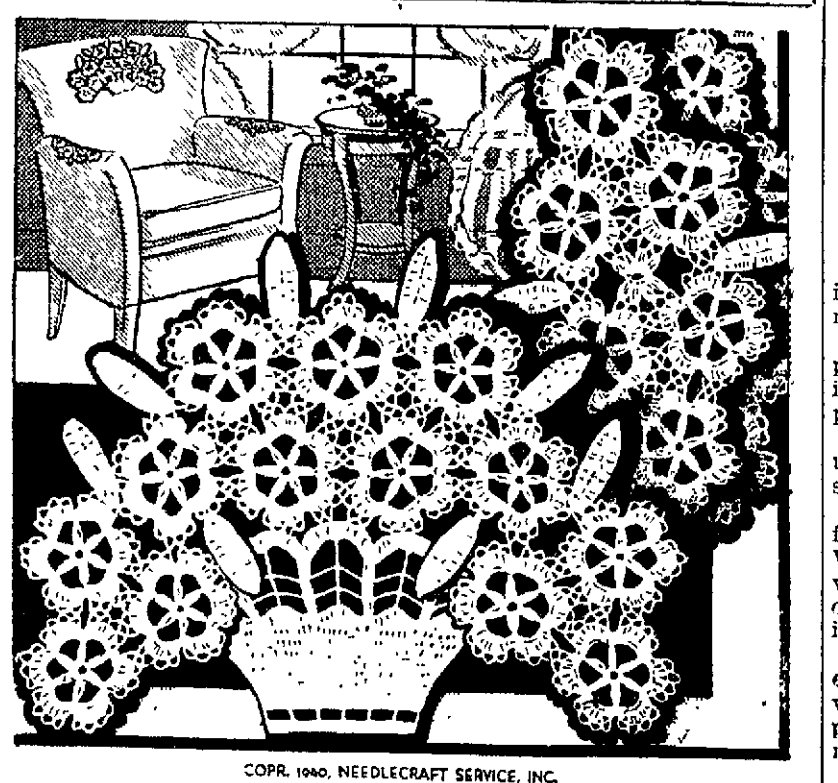

Keep quiet as long as you can, listening. Don't look at the stammering child but keep your eyes on some trifling matter, allowing him to feel that while you are attending to him you are not concentrating your full force upon him. That relieves him from some of the tension he is feeling.

Tension creates stammering. If a grown person centers his attention full upon a child, exerting mental pressure upon him, that pressure is immediately felt, the tension increases and the stammer grows worse. Look away from the stammering child while you allow him to feel your interest.

Don't correct him. If he chokes look kindly at him, take over the story yourself until he gets control of himself, and then let him begin again. If he is allowed to feel that he can take his time, that he won't lose his audience, he will gain confidence, and with that, strength. Practice will do the rest.

A real speech defect must be

Being Known as Highbrow May Prove Handicap to Girl

BY DOROTHY DIX

There is nothing of which men are more firmly convinced than that they cannot abide brainy women. To them, in theory at least, a clever woman is anathema, and for a girl to have the reputation of being a highbrow is a greater handicap to her popularity than for her to be the heroine of a scandal. The first question that any man ever asks about a strange woman is about her looks. Is she pretty? He never inquires whether she is intelligent or not. And no mother trying to launch a debutante daughter would ever dream of bragging about Mamie's record at school. On the contrary, she would shush it up as much as possible and discourage loud and long about Mamie's profile and what a good dancer she was. That men still cling to the superstition that they don't want clever women for wives is amply proved by the fact that statistics show that the dumb Dorsas have nearly twice the chance of getting husbands as the intelligentsias have. And yet: Every man wants his wife to be a companion to him. He wants her to have enough education and culture to be able to talk interestingly. He wants her to read the books that he does and keep up with the papers and magazines and to know what is going on in the world. He wants to be proud of her when he takes her out among his friends.

Dorothy Dix

We want her to interest him and amuse him, and to know what he is talking about when he tries to explain his hopes and plans to her. And, if she isn't, if she is dull and tiresome, he is mighty apt to leave her for some more sprightly lady.

He wants a wife who is as good a financier as any banker. He wants a wife who will know how to pinch the pennies and get a hundred and twenty-five cents out of every dollar, because he knows that whether a man is sitting pretty on Easy street in his middle age or wallowing in debt up to his neck, depends, as a general thing, upon whether his wife was money-wise or a silly little spend thrift.

He expects his wife to rear his children and develop them into fine men and women. He expects her to be enough of a doctor to look after their health and keep them well and happy; enough of a dietitian to feed them properly; enough of an Emily Post to form their manners; enough of a judge to hold a strong hand over them and keep them in the strait and narrow way. He knows that a mother molds her children's characters and he would hate to turn his youngsters over to a fond fool who would wreck their lives before they fairly began.

Every man wants a wife who is a philosopher. He wants a wife who can rationalize marriage and balance its gains and its losses and strike a good working average. He wants a wife who knows that no situation on earth is absolutely perfect and who won't expect marriage to be the exception to the universal rule. He wants a wife who won't weep and wail over every hardship; who won't expect a busy man to tell her every day how beautiful and wonderful she is and how much he loves her, and who won't have hysterics every time he is late for dinner.

He wants a wife who can take troubles on the chin and laugh off treated by experts and experts only.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane

Psychologist, Northwestern University

Happiness is easily within the reach of everybody, but you should not stumble along blindly toward it or childishly believe that it comes by means of miracles. If you follow the proper psychological laws, you will inevitably be happy. But it demands effort. Nobody else can earn your happiness for you. John Alden cannot win friends or sweethearts for anybody but John Alden.

CASE Q-101: David, age 3 is our youngest child.

"I want 'nother cookie, please," he asked as we were driving in the automobile home from Chicago.

"Do you know who baked those cookies for us?" his mother inquired. "It was Aunt Bess."

"My like Aunt Bess," David exclaimed, as he began stuffing cookies into his mouth. "Aunt Bess is nice. She gives David Cookies."

DIAGNOSIS: This simple example illustrates the psychological axiom for winning friends and making people love you.

It may sound brutally frank and unappealing to say so, but all friendship and love must be bought.

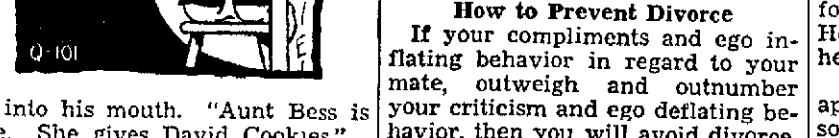

There is no innate love of child for parent, nor of husband for wife. We do inherit a nervous system of loving our parents or of becoming enamored of our sweetheart.

But there are thousands of women just as pretty and sweet as the wives we select. Why do we happen to choose a certain woman for marriage?

Because she has purchased our affection by paying us more compliments, or by feeding us better pie and cake, or by giving us more kisses and ego satisfaction than have the thousands of other girls just as pretty, just as intelligent and just as sweet as she is.

How Love Develops

Whenever we meet a person who makes us feel more pleasant and happy than before our encounter with him, we begin to like that individual. If he or she continues to make us feel "more delighted with ourselves" on subsequent meetings, we soon develop a strong fondness for him.

AUNT BESS COOKIES

This ultimately becomes a fast friendship. Or, if we are unmarried, and if the other person is a fairly attractive member of the opposite sex, we may find that romance develops. We may fall in love.

Divorces and hatreds arise from applying this same axiom in reverse. If we belittle the pride or vanity of our associates, or deprive them of good meals, compliments and caresses, then we are heading for divorce or animosity.

A man and woman fall in love by paying each other compliments. I have previously told you that love is simply a mutual admiration society with two charter members.

If, after the ceremony, they begin to deflate each other's vanity by quarrels, by burnt toast and lateness for appointments, or by failure to bring home a pay check regularly or take the wife out to a movie at least once per week, then love is on the decline.

How to Prevent Divorce

If your compliments and ego inflating behavior in regard to your mate, outweigh and outnumber your criticism and ego deflating behavior, then you will avoid divorce.

When the compliments exactly equal the criticism, man and wife feel neutral toward each other. If they have children to hold them together, or are devout Catholics, they may remain married, at least in name.

But when the criticisms markedly outweigh the compliments, the marriage is definitely heading for the divorce court.

Human emotions are subject to simple laws as axiomatic as those of geometry or chemistry. If you want to be happy, you can do so easily enough by following the psychological axioms.

Friends are bought by kindness, praises and compliments. We all realize that fact subconsciously when we say at Christmas, "Wish you to send the Smiths a greeting, for they sent us one last year."

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing or printing cost, when you seek personal advice or one of his psychological charts.)

BLOOD RUNS COLD

By Ann Demarest

YESTERDAY: Mrs. Evans tells the Sergeant about the man entering Christine's apartment the night of the murder. Christine tries to explain that the door wouldn't lock. She tries the key again and it works.

Chapter Seven

"COME CLEAN"

To my surprise the Sergeant didn't say anything more to me, instead he turned to Mrs. Evans and asked loudly, "Who was the man who left here mysteriously?"

"Kincaid," she said irritably, furious probably because the Sergeant let the matter of the key pass without handcuffing me immediately.

Then he asked Sarah how long Kincaid had lived in the house. "Well, he came in about the first of October."

"And when did he leave?"

"Lemme see, about ten days ago, I'd say."

"Where did he go?"

Sarah looked at the Sergeant sullenly. The rapid fire questioning confused her. "Nobody seems to know. He moved all of a sudden like."

Mrs. Evans spoke up in an offended voice. "I did see some mail on the hall table downstairs for him," she said. "It disappeared, so somebody must have his address to send it to him."

"Who'd have done that?"

Mrs. Evans and Sarah stared at each other and shook their heads. With a sour look the Sergeant made a notation in his book and then asked Mrs. Evans to tell her story.

She settled herself more comfortably, gave me a scrutinizing look, then said, "I went out last night about 7:30 or quarter to eight."

"See anyone then?"

"Joan Kent and that MacDonald boy were leaving the house just as I was."

"And you got back about midnight?" the Sergeant prompted her.

She nodded. "I saw Mr. Kincaid go into Miss Howarth's room and there was a lot of noise after that. James, my dog, was restless and I knew something was wrong."

I caught a gleam in the Sergeant's eye as he turned to give the dog, now sound asleep on the couch, a long look. "Is James a good barometer?" he asked dryly.

"What say?"

The Sergeant skipped it. "Anything else?"

Well, people seemed to be going up and down stairs all night long."

"Is that usual?"

She nodded reluctantly. "That Kent girl had company at all hours and she was forever hanging around the MacDonald boy, always running into his apartment."

"Are you out of the house all day?" the Sergeant asked.

And with that question a peculiar change came over the woman. "Yes, I go to business." Her voice was guarded.

"What do you do?"

A spot of color crept into each cheek. "It's none of your business and it has nothing to do with this," she snapped. "And you can't make me talk any more. I'm sick and tired of this. The murderer is right here under your nose. I told you who did it."

She rose and stalked out of the room with the dog yelping at her heels and the Sergeant made no move to stop her. He told Sarah she could go on with her work, and after she left he turned to me.

"Come clean now. Tell me what you know about this and tell quickly."

There was no denying it. The Sergeant had it firmly fixed in his head that I'd done something or other.

"I know very little to tell you, Sergeant," I said, trying to sound composed. "These people here are all strangers to me."

"Maybe you don't know anything, but that's for me to decide," he got up and walked to the window. "You'd better start with last evening."

"Very Queer"

So I started and we got along fairly well until I mentioned having seen Joan Kent at the Knife and Fork with a man. That seemed to interest the Sergeant.

"What did he look like?"

"I can't tell you very well because he had on an overcoat and muffer and he didn't take them off." I tried to think back. "His hair was light."

"He didn't take off his overcoat," the Sergeant said, looking at me as though I were half-witted.

"Not while I was there," I said impatiently, "but I left in a couple of minutes."

"Do you think the girl recognized you from seeing you in the hall?"

I shook my head.

"For some reason he didn't want to be identified," the Sergeant said with a frown. "Unless you don't want to be able to identify him."

"I told you I never saw him before. It was bitter cold last night. He probably kept his coat on until he got warm."

For that, I got a sharp look. He apparently didn't want my opinion, so I went on with the story, trying to make a workmanlike job of it. When I got to the man who came into my apartment he interrupted me.

"A friend of yours," he asked, his eyes on the door.

"My friends," I said coldly, "aren't in the habit of running into my apartment in the middle of the night."

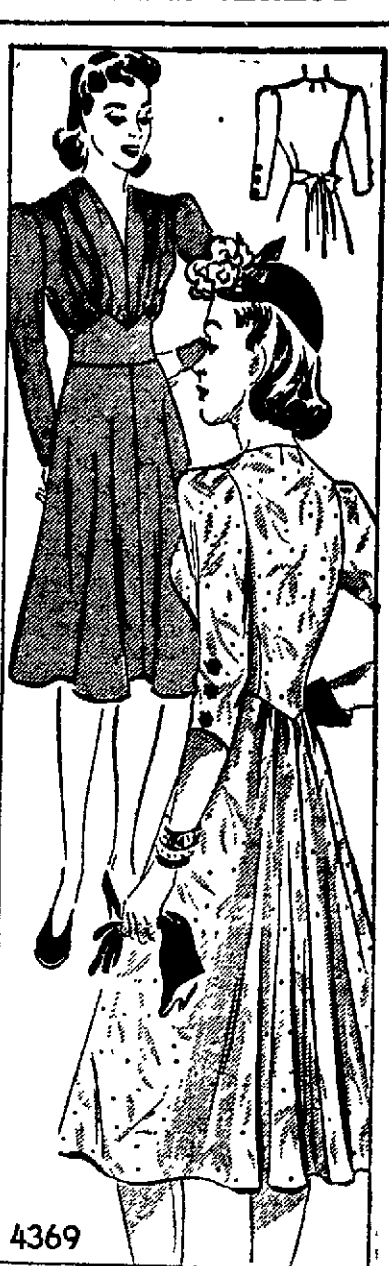

He considered. "You can't be certain, though, can you, since you didn't see his face? It might have been someone you know."

"Sergeant," I said, "it must have been someone who lives here. At any rate, the front door is kept locked and no one can get in without a key. I've just come back from Paris and no one in town knows where I'm living."

The Sergeant shook his head. "It's queer, very queer, that you happened to move here just at this time. And you say you don't know these people. Well, we'll see."

I led him to the chair and lighted a cigarette to keep from screaming with annoyance. "Now please listen to me, Sergeant Long," I said. "I'd never have moved here

The back waistline forms a low point for the sleek, longer-torso effect that's so new and chic. Deep gathers spraying out below the point give unusual skirt interest. Coming around to the front, the broad, twin-peaked girdle has a tiny-waisted look, further emphasized by the softly gathered bodice with its simple V-neckline. For ahead of time, are place cards ever used to seat the table? They seem to be very necessary but I don't know how they can be put around.

Answer: Place cards at a dinner of 12 or more are especially necessary. In a restaurant where directing your guests verbally would be very conspicuous. At home, before the dinner, you write the cards and lay them around an imaginary table in the order they are to be placed.

Then pick up the cards, beginning with the card of the lady who is to sit on your husband's left, and then each one in turn up around the table. When the pack is completed, your husband's card will be on top and the lady of honor (the one who sits on his right) next below his. Fasten the pack together with an elastic band (or put it in a small envelope). When you arrive at the restaurant, you give the pack to the head waiter and ask him to put them around the table to the right. He then deals them around.

In the exact order they come. Dear Mr. Post: Is "Thank you" the best return for a compliment? I think in some special cases it might sound more flattering to the other person to say "I'm glad you like it" or "I'm glad you think so." A friend argues, however, that this seems to be taking the compliment too seriously.

What to Say for a Compliment

Answer: "Thank you" is always safe, but both answers are right. On occasion, if you happen to value the opinion of the person, you could say, "To hear you say this means a great deal." I think your suggestion of "I'm glad you like it" could be taken to mean that at least this one person likes it and that no one else has. Which may, or then again may not, be though flattering! In short your meaning must be made clear by your "reading" of the line.

Mrs. Post is sorry she can no longer answer personal letters. She is glad however to have many printed slips on a variety of subjects to offer to her readers. Today's slip is "Do You Know Your A B C's in Manners?" Be sure to send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

BUTTERLESS BREAD

The following opinion as to why the formal dinner is gradually disappearing is certainly novel in idea and vivid in its suggestion: "Since there are no bread and butter plates used on a formal dinner table, is it proper not to serve any rolls or bread at all? If butter is not permitted, certainly people can't choke down dry bread. Or perhaps that is why formal dinners are going out of fashion."

Although it is true that butterless bread—excepting that one checkerboard variety of brown bread and white bread cemented together with frozen hard butter—is the formal dinner rule, the special dinner roll (sometimes called a finger roll) is made with a good deal of butter and is really not very dry. The perfectly plain delectables of dry and crustless bread that used to be served at yesterday's dinners may have hastened their end, for all I know I can answer from long experience that it was not tempting in appearance nor delectable to taste!

Profits Boosted $1,500 Last Year At Water Works

Revenue From Neenah Plant During 1939 Amounts to $69,800

Neenah — Complete comparative statistics for a 2-year period on the operation of the Neenah Water Works plant are available for the first time since the plant has been in operation, and these statistics, which were released today by City Clerk H. S. Zerkow, show that the plant not only has been operating successfully but at an increase in profit to the city.

Profits from the sale of water by the plant during 1939, which amounted to $10,033.14, increased $1,561.05 over the previous year when the profits amounted to $8,472.09, while revenue for the plant increased $4,434 over the preceding year. Total revenues last year were $69,821.86 as compared to $65,387.86 for 1938.

The commission apparently believes in the adage that to make money you have to spend it, for expenditures during 1939 increased $2,872.95 over 1938. Disbursements last year totaled $59,788.72 against $56,915.77 for 1938.

The $10,000-profit from last year has been transferred to the surplus. The surplus now totals $79,684.31, while at the beginning of 1939 it was $69,659.01.

Assets, Liabilities
The balance sheet for the two years shows that assets, which amounted to $633,876.43, decreased $1,732.07. Items listed in the current and accrued assets were cash $21,136.82, accounts receivable $19,119.87, receivables from the city $6,038.94 and materials and supplies $20,204.98. Liabilities were capital paid in by city or capital stock, $413,237.02; long-term debt, advances from city, $29,000; accounts payable $2,438.93; payables to city $12,387.11; taxes $9,926.22; reserve for depreciation $47,228.99; contributions $39,963.90 and surplus $79,684.31.

Pumpage of water and metered water sales likewise increased, while there was a decrease of 3 per cent in the percentage of sales to the pumpage.

The increase in pumpage last year in comparison to the previous 12-month period amounted to 40,560,000 gallons, pumpage last year totaling 213,462,000 gallons as compared with 172,902,000 gallons for 1938. Metered watered sales, which totaled 155,221,460 gallons, increased 24,410,510 gallons. The total for the preceding year was 130,810,950 gallons. The percentage of sales to the pumpage last year was 72.73 while it was 75.7 for 1938.

Pumpage Increases
The average daily pumpage for 1939 was 584,822 gallons as compared to 473,567 gallons, an increase of 111,255. The largest day's pumpage was on July 24 when 1,122,000 gallons were pumped and the smallest day's pumpage was 409,000 gallons on Feb. 19.

The city clerk pointed out in his report that "Revenue is up about $4,500 for the previous year, but expenses also have increased about $2,500, the greater portion of which is for chemicals because of the extraordinary water condition, algae, and partly because of the gratifying increase in the water pumpage and sale."

The largest earnings by the plant during 1939 included residential water sales $31,564.81, nearly $2,000 over the previous year, commercial $17,192.98, industrial $9,807.68, public $1,531.63, private fire protection $1,177.75 and public fire protection $20,241.32.

Among the large disbursements were: Labor for the pumping plant, softening and filtration plant and transmission and distribution system $10,491.13, power $4,064.63, carbon $4,399.46, lime $1,517.34, commercial and general expenses $3,281.53 interest on city equity $12,397.11 depreciation $7,258.65, taxes $10,007.14.

Greater Sales
There were increases in metered water sales in every division except the municipal. In the residential division, where metered water sales totaled $1,745,960, the increase amounted to 11,339,310, while the increase in the commercial division, where sales amounted to $8,647,700, totaled 3,129,600. During the year, the department installed water mains on the following streets: Hansen 648 feet, Elm 1,446 feet, Congress 548 feet, and McKinley 468 feet. draw completely, or run the risk of siege without promise of reinforcements and supplies.

The communists followed a fresh Moscow accusation that Great Britain and France were plotting to expand their own war against Germany by entangling Soviet Russia.

Reviewing the first six months of the western European war Pravda, (communist party newspaper) said:

"There is no doubt the British-French imperialists are eager to repeat 'the Finnish experiment' in the Near East," an apparent reference to the reported concentration of 600,000 allied troops there. In a statement supplementing its daily communiqué, the Leningrad military headquarters declared Finland was "approaching the end of the adventure" of the "Finnish white guards."

REDS DRIVEN BACK

Helinki—The Finnish high command announced today that its forces, fighting invading Russians along at the gates of Viipuri, had repelled attacks aimed at the city from three sides.

In addition, the Finns reported fighting in the Arctic region far to the north near Petsamo, and north-east of Lake Ladoga, where they said 1,200 Russians were killed. The attacks against Viipuri were beaten back yesterday, according to the daily army communiqué, as the Russians attempted to advance across the ice of the Bay of Viipuri, at a second point between the bay and the Vuoksi river, and at a third point near Ayrappa, a few miles further to the northeast.

Wiley in Appeal for Finnish Relief Funds

Newark, N. J.—United States Senator Alexander Wiley (R-N.J.) appealed Saturday night for American contributions to Finnish relief "to stop communism on the Manheim line."

Wiley, addressing 1,500 persons at a Finnish relief fund benefit sponsored by the United Scandinavian societies of New Jersey, said "we must not permit the atheism of Russia to destroy the Christianity and democracy of Finland."

"If communism conquers Finland, and the other Scandinavian countries," he continued, "it will have an outpost on the Atlantic."

"It is a fine thing to contribute money to the Finnish cause, but don't let our sympathies stampede us into sending another expeditionary force to fight in any of Europe's wars."

Federation Launches Campaign in South

Atlanta—The American Federation of Labor launched today on a southern organizing campaign geared to enlist "every man and woman eligible."

An organization call was addressed to central labor unions and state federations by President William Green yesterday at the close of a two-day, 10-state conference attended by 2,000 delegates.

Amid encouraging yells of the delegates, Green challenged as a "deliberate falsehood" what he characterized as charges that "our great American labor movement" is a "weakened institution engaged in exploitation and racketeering."

The following detours are in effect, Highway 69, New Glarus-Madison road, Dane county; Highway 18, Cambridge-Jefferson road, Jefferson county; and Highway 36, Walworth-Fontana road, Walworth county.

Democrats the 'Majority' Party as Presidential Race Begins; Republicans Stronger Than in 1936 Election, Survey Reveals Princeton, N. J.—As the American people approach one of the most critical Presidential campaigns in history, the nation-wide soundings of the American Institute of Public Opinion indicate that a small majority of U. S. voters at the present time favor a Democratic victory next November.

In other words, apart from the question of candidates, which cannot be settled until the two major parties meet in convention this summer, the Democratic party must be regarded for the present as the "majority" party and the Republicans as the "minority" party in the country as a whole.

This latest measurement of political sentiment is based on personal interviews with more than 18,000 U. S. voters who were asked: "Which party would you like to see win the Presidential election this year?" The results show that 55 per cent of those with opinions on the question want the Democrats to win, while 45 per cent want the Republicans to win. One person in six said he was undecided or had no opinion.

As the recent Congressional by-elections in Ohio and elsewhere have dramatically shown, however, the Democratic party is not as strong today as it was in 1936. A study of all the by-elections held so far this year outside the South shows an average Democratic drop of about 5½ points.

Institute surveys reveal a parallel trend. Mr. Roosevelt was elected with 62½ per cent of the major party vote four years ago. Since only 55 persons in every hundred now favor a Democratic President next November, the nation-wide drop in Democratic strength has been about 7½ points.

What has happened to American political sentiment in the intervening years is shown in the Institute survey. Out of every one hundred persons who voted for President Roosevelt four years ago, nineteen now say they favor a Republican President. A few Republicans have changed camps, too, but not so many. Only four out of every hundred Landon voters now say they favor a Democrat.

As the Democrats and Republicans gird themselves for the coming campaign, however, the Institute survey points to two other fundamental facts about U. S. sentiment which may have a decisive effect on the outcome next November.

First, the sharp class division in American voting, which became apparent in the 1936 election, has continued during the past three and a half years. At the present time the Republican party has its center of gravity in the upper income group—the class of business men, successful farmers, professional people and salaried workers earning more than $40 a week. Republican strength tapers off as you go down the income scale, until in the lower income group, only a few Republicans in proportion to Democrats are to be found.

The reverse of course is true of the Democrats. Their most concentrated strength except in the Solid South, occurs in the lower income group—including persons on relief and others earning less than $20 a week—and they also hold a small majority of voters in the middle income group, which earns between $20 and $40.

Second, on a geographical basis the Democratic party today has a firm hold on both the South and the West—sections which account for 54 of the 48 states, and 211 of the 341 votes in the electoral college. The Republicans, on the other hand, are the "majority" party in New England, with its 41 electoral votes. In the region between— from the Hudson river to the Rockies—the 18 states where opinion is closely divided at the present time and where the next Presidential election is almost certain to be decided.

The results of the Institute survey outline the problem which Republican Party Chairman John D. Hamilton and the yet unnamed GOP candidate will have to face, if they hope to turn their party into the majority party next November.

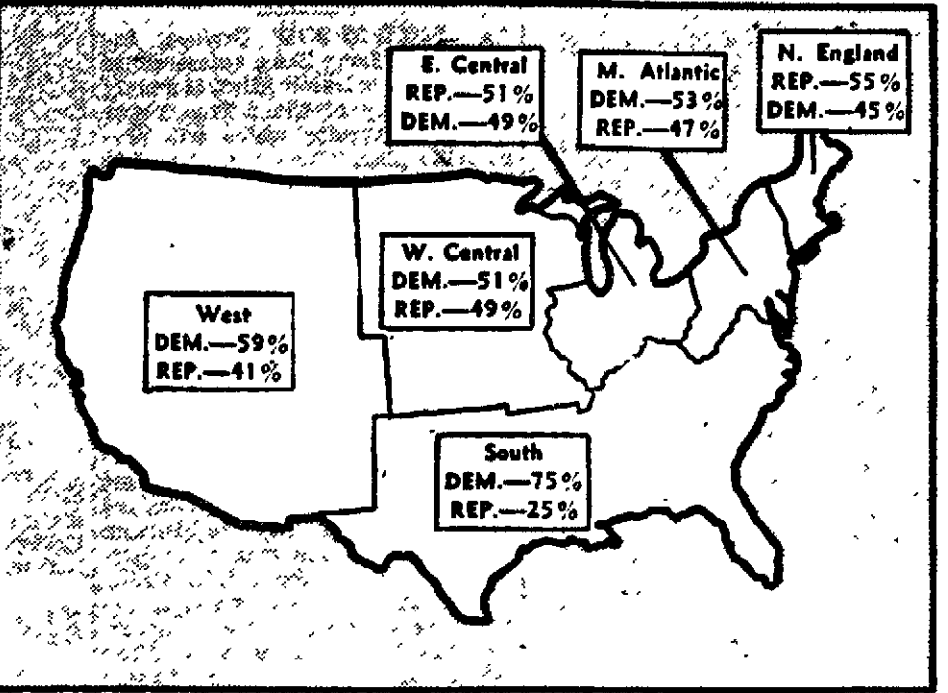

The findings also indicate where the Democratic party must hold its lines, and where those lines are weakest.

Institute studies in the Appleton Post-Crescent in the weeks ahead will show how the various states stand. The following figures, however, give the sectional and group picture:

	Favoring Democrats	Favoring Republicans
Upper Income	36%	64%
Middle Income	51	49
Lower Income	69	31
New England	45	55
Mid Atlantic	53	47
East Central	49	51
West Central	51	49
South	75	25
West	59	41

Whatever platforms are written next summer, and whatever speeches are delivered, the above configurations of political sentiment cannot be ignored by any party that hopes to win. From the Republican point of view the problem is made especially difficult by the fact that the upper income group—where the Republicans are strongest—numbers only about 10,000,000 of the 60,000,000 persons who make up the voting population.

War Has Helped Democrats In the months ahead two factors will be of great importance (1) the choice of candidates and (2) the course of events here and abroad. Whether Mr. Roosevelt decides to

WHERE NEW DEAL STRENGTH COMES FROM

As the campaign enters its first phase, the Democratic party has the support of a majority of American voters. The above figures show the sections of the country also where Republican support is concentrated at the present time. The naming of the popular groups in which the Democrats have their greatest strength, and candidates together with events here and abroad, may change this picture as the campaign continues.

If F.B.I. Is Investigated Pegler Would Make It a Party

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—The proposed investigation of the Federal Bureau of Investigation would be an investigation to investigate investigation. It would shock out of us, but it would subdue our inquisitiveness, because it would smear so many of us. The F.B.I. has more dirt on more Americans, including senators, representatives, labor leaders, governors, mayors, and members of some of the political families of the New Deal government than the foulest whelp of an open grand jury bred to a commercial blackmailer of the press, radio and screen could reaper up in a thousand and one nights under the goofy spell of the toxic weed.

We have developed a gossip and slander technique in the legislative assemblies of our nation and her component states. When any considerable group wants to get or discredit somebody or some movement we persuade some senator or representative or some state senator or state representative, to start an investigation.

In the states the politician selected for this duty may be, and likely is, an illiterate racketeer incapable of writing a coherent letter, much less a legally admissible resolution or bill, but there is always a legislative sweatshop at hand in which school-taught civic and intellectual prostitutes will whip indecent intentions into constitutional shape.

The files of the F.B.I. in Washington contain legal proof of perjury by hundreds of thousands of Americans—a majority of whom, it may be hoped, craved once and forever after above the laws. These records, suddenly released, would humiliate other Americans in geometrical proportion, and let it not be thought that only Wall Street bankers and boss politicians would be so embarrassed. The files of the F.B.I. include not merely confirmed criminal data but a vast amount of background on individuals who have never been formerly accused of any crime.

F. B. I. Is No Worse Than U. S. Congress

The F. B. I. co-operates with local police departments and with the treasury and other departments of the government. Its tickler-files and unconfirmed data, if disclosed for publication as privileged matter by a congressional committee investigating the F. B. I. would loose up some of the families of this republic.

The F. B. I. co-operates with police departments which tap wires of family telephones and even, in one incredible case of which I am,

Movie Land Its People and Products

By Jimmie Fidler

Baltimore—In my relayed mail this ayeam is an interesting letter from a lady who signs herself "Mrs. Fan." She writes:

"The other day my little girl floored me with a statement regarding marriage. I had remarked, 'Your husband would never put up with such things, my dear'—to which she retorted, 'So what? I'll divorce him if he doesn't like it!'"

If Joan Bennett can do it, so can I! Joan Bennett, you see, happens to be one of her principal idols. "You may argue that movie divorces do not influence children's ideas more than the divorces of John and Mary Smith, but your point would be unsound. Young people don't set up John and Mary Smith as patterns to live by—it's the Joan Bennetts, the Ann Sheridans, the Clark Gables and all the other outstanding screen stars whom they worship and try to ape. Movie stars who have made themselves public figures, worshipped by millions of young fans, owe it to those fans not to let them down. Screen favorites become an intimate part of our lives, and since our approval has given them fame and fortune, we must be considered. In particular, stars have a heavy obligation to growing children for a child's impressions stay with him. And if the kids of today get into their heads that they can pattern their lives after those of many of the Hollywood celebrities they are worshipping, God help them!"

Think it over carefully before dismissing "Mrs. Fan's" letter as the complaint of a crank. There are a good many million mothers in America and I'm sure the majority of them probably share "Mrs. Fan's" views.

IDOL CHATTER: Most screen stars dress to kill—and cook the same way. Peas-in-a-pod Gene Lockhart (in a high collar) and President Herbert Hoover. Two-gun more or personal liberty and privilege would gain more by the total destruction of all its files, including contributions from the military departments and the treasury.

The head of the F. B. I. whoever he may be at any given time, should remember to be a cop and not a night-club celebrity or toster for any individual profiteer in blackmail. And congress should remember that grand juries are supposed to conduct their investigations in private. It does a victim no good to report no bill after he has been defamed in violation of his constitutional rights by all his enemies under the protection of congressional immunity.

So let us have an investigation of the F. B. I. But let's make it a party, and dish out the tons of dirt about all the hundreds of thousands of convicts and their relatives and the suspects and the near-criminals and grafters. But let's not exclude the chasing, sanctimonious gyps who have exploited their relationship to persons in high office.

But the F. B. I. is no worse than the United States congress, for congress not only gave this bureau its OGPU authority but, since then, has not preferred to cut out its files for particular purposes. The whole government has become one giant gossip and scandal-monger. Most congressional investigations have no object but to smear people and throw the fear of scandal into the individuals.

The F. B. I. is the greatest deposit of personal dirt ever amassed, and it is an even question whether the forces of law and order would lose

Trained by his mother in the songs of his race, his voice drew the attention of Madame Sembrick who for two years personally gave him the training which had made him the outstanding interpreter of Indian tribal songs. During the recent visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth to this country, Lone Bear and Princess Te Ata gave a program of songs for them at the home of President Roosevelt in Hyde Park.

County Seeking Office for Tax Division Branch

Department Asks Quarters of 3,500 Square Feet After March 15

Outagamie county officials, who already have rented two offices outside the courthouse for county departments, this week are facing a third housing problem.

John E. Hantschel, county clerk, today received word from the state tax department that it wishes 3,500 square feet of office space for a state tax division office which will be established here after March 15. The department recently announced a reorganization program eliminating eight of the twelve income tax branch offices. One of the new district offices will be in Appleton, and the space now occupied by the local office of the Green Bay division is inadequate for the new requirements.

The county now is tenting space outside the courthouse for the pension and AAA departments. It was suggested this morning that the pension or AAA department be moved into the present tax office and that the new district office use the space of these plans is feasible the county will have to rent additional space and the old city hall quarters in the library building have been mentioned.

The county executive committee will meet Friday to consider the problem.

CANAL DRAINED, CARP AND SHEEPHEAD HAVE BAD WEEKEND

Drainage of the government canal between the first and third lock Saturday brought out a host of fishermen armed with spears, the above scene showing them in action in the canal west of Oneida street.

There were as many as 25 men out plunging their spears into carp and sheephead and a few youngsters even tried to hit the fish with stones. It was reported that yesterday afternoon a man with a bow and arrow was seen shooting fish in the canal.

At the left are two of the fishermen, Andrew Forster, left, route 1, Menasha, and Kenneth Forster, 820 W. Prospect avenue, who estimated their bag contained about 150 pounds of fish, which they will give the smoke treatment. Andrew did most of the spearing, in about an hour's time. Appleton Dog Gains Publicity As Bodyguard for Big Gorilla

The August day in 1938 that the Ringling Brothers circus came to town, Mrs. Emma Vermeulen, 1601 S. Memorial Drive, took her Doberman puncher with her for a stroll around the circus grounds.

The keeper of Gargantua, the ferocious gorilla the circus was presenting that season for the first time, saw the dog and purchased it as a sentinel for the gorilla cage. Mrs. Vermeulen sold the dog gladly, relieving herself of worry and providing Gargantua with an able bodyguard.

Gargantua was the subject of a picture-story in a recent issue of a national picture magazine. And who should be included in the set of photographs, but Duke, the Doberman from Appleton.

Since the magazine appeared, Mrs. Vermeulen has received numerous letters and telephone calls asking if the dog that appeared in the picture is the one she once owned. It is.

Duke's disposition did not improve with age and as his ugliness became a source of worry to Mrs. Vermeulen, she decided to dispose of him in the only foolproof way. She called the Appleton police department.

Recognizing the dog's fine breeding, the police were reluctant to "put him to sleep," Mrs. Vermeulen sought the advice of a veterinarian. He, too, told her the dog was too valuable to be destroyed and suggested that she find some other way to get rid of him.

It was about that time that a circus and Gargantua provided an ideal opportunity.

Archbishop Stritch Warns Against 'Shabby Nationalism'

Milwaukee — (U) — Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch, who will be enthroned as archbishop of Chicago Thursday, said goodbye to his flock here last night with a warning against "materialism and shabby nationalism."

At a public farewell in the Milwaukee auditorium, the archbishop listened gravely as a series of speakers, both lay and clerical, praised him for his leadership of the Milwaukee archdiocese during nine years of economic stress, for his work in the fields of charity, Catholic Action and youth.

Then, to his eulogists, he said: "Wouldn't it be truer to say that I have had the privilege of being the archbishop of an archdiocese of charity—an archdiocese of a laity that craved Catholic action—the archbishop of the fathers of families who demanded that the church bring their boys and girls into the apostolate of Catholic youth? The achievements were your own."

He said that Bishop Moses E. Kiley, of Trenton, N. J., who will be enthroned as his successor here March 28, was "a great, good man with things to give you that God never gave me to give."

The archbishop declared that "unholy forces" which would deny liberties and individual rights and destroy "the very name of God in the human languages" were at work in the world.

The clergy presented him with a crozier of gold—a staff which would be used by the archbishop as a symbol of his office. Bernard G. Traudt said would help him bear up under the heavy burden that would be his in the archdiocese of Chicago.

The archbishop received from Frank M. Surges, general chairman of the 1940 Catholic Charities Appeal, a check representing the $210,000 raised in the drive.

Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States, will arrive from Washington tomorrow night. He will officiate at the ceremonies, to be attended by one of the most imposing assemblages of church dignitaries since the Eucharistic congress here in 1926.

Expense of Feeding Family Has Declined Since Last Fall

BY FRANKLIN MULLIN
Chicago — Most of the war boom in food costs which took a sudden wallop at the American pocketbook last September has been wiped out during the last few months, commodity market statisticians showed today, and the expense of feeding the family has turned back toward its lowest level since 1934.

Reductions in the price of wheat, particularly pork, lard and similar items, paralleling the decline of hog values, has done much to lower the food budget. Thus, war, which has skyrocketed food prices in Europe and produced rationing measures and introduction of substitutes, has had only a slight net effect on the American consumer. So far, food price changes have followed the pattern in the early months of the world war.

Market experts said this reflects to some extent the fact that supplies of most foods at the start of the war were substantially greater than in recent years. Furthermore, Europe as yet has made no unusual demands for American products in proportion to exports 25 years ago. When hostilities broke out last September wholesale food prices advanced about 12 per cent while retail prices rose more than five per cent. However, the boom peak was reached within a week or two largely as a result of immediate speculative forward purchasing. By October there had been a good reaction.

Prices now are near the five-year low level through which they ranged from February to August last year and are 20 per cent below the peak reached late in 1937, which stands as their highest level since 1930. They are about 33 per cent lower than the 1929 peak but about 27 per cent above the low point reached early in 1933.

Hopes Roosevelt Won't Seek Post But Missourian Will Back President if He Does

Run Third Time

Washington — (U) — Senator Truman (D-Mo.) said today he hoped that President Roosevelt would not seek a third term, but added: "If he does, I will support him."

Truman told reporters he always had opposed the third term idea because of the tradition that a president should serve only eight years. The senator, ending his first term, is engaged in a fight for re-nomination against governor Stark of Missouri. While there had been earlier indications that administration forces were friendly to Stark, authoritative persons reported today that New Deal officials were taking no part in the race.

Senator Clark (D-Mo.) declined comment on Truman's contest. Friends said, however, that if he took any active part in the campaign, he would support his colleague.

While the Missouri situation interested capital politicians there, still much talk about the week-end statements of Senator Stark (D-Mo.) and Speaker Bankhead (D-Ala.).

After 35 years of public life, Donahoe, 66, announced he would retire "for the preservation of my health." Many party leaders had pressed him to run again, for they argued that his would strengthen the national Democratic ticket in Ohio.

Bankhead said it clear that his "favorite son" candidacy for the presidency was not one of opposition to Mr. Roosevelt, should the latter run again.

VOLCANOES

In the Pacific ocean, not far from New Guinea, is an island which has volcanoes with odd names. It is called New Britain, and is under control of Australia.

New Britain is not a little "rock jutting from the sea"—it has nearly as much land as Holland. It spreads out in nearly the shape of a crescent moon, and has a length of about 300 miles.

Bathing men of New Britain wearing high hats.

The main volcano in New Britain is named Father, and is 7,500 feet high. It has erupted in modern times. Another large volcano is known as the Mother.

One morning in 1870, people in New Britain rubbed their eyes when they looked out over Blanche bay. It contained an island which had not been there the day before! The island had an area of only a few acres, but it was a wonder to have it rise out of the sea.

That island had been made in the same way as quite a number of others. A volcano had erupted the night before, and had thrown up enough lava and ashes to produce the island.

Besides the Father and Mother there are four "child" volcanoes in New Britain. The smaller volcanoes are known as North Son, South Son, North Daughter and South Daughter.

About 68,000 people of native race live in New Britain. They are dark-skinned, almost black, and have "frizzly" hair. Many natives have been cannibals, and it is suspected that some of them carry on the practice to this day.

White men rule the island but there are only a few hundred of them. They live together in the little city of Rabaul.

New Britain is narrow, being hardly 30 miles across. Yet there are not many white persons who have crossed it. Fear of natives is one reason, but more important is the mountain "backbone" which runs almost the whole length of the island. The "backbone" has steep sides and it is hard for a person to climb it.

Bold travelers have made their way into the wilds now and then, however, and pictures have been taken of the natives. One such picture shows a group of men wearing extremely high hats. The hats are cone-shaped and may make one think of "sun" caps. These hats are made of bark. They are worn when the men take part in a dance which has something to do with their religion.

Seymour, Weyauwega Winners of District Titles

County Cagers in 54 to 27 Rout of Brillion High '5'

Third Place Goes to Wrightstown, Consolation to Winneconne

SHIOCTON DISTRICT TOURNAMENT SATURDAY RESULTS
Seymour 54, Brillion 27 (championship).
Wrightstown 26, Freedom 8 (third place).
Winneconne 24, Hortonville 18.

BY GORDON MCINTYRE
SHIOCTON — With all the ease of a blitzkrieg, Seymour High school basketball team won the Shiocton district championship here Saturday night by mauling Brillion, 54 to 27, in the final game. Seymour totaled 138 points for the three games in which it participated, an average of slightly over 45 points a game!

Seymour will continue its quest for state honors by competing in the Kewaunee regional tournament this week. Its first opponent will be Fish Creek from the Sturgeon Bay peninsula.

Brillion took second place by virtue of being the offering to Seymour in the final game, third place went to Wrightstown which whipped Freedom, 26 to 8, while the consolation title went to Winneconne with a 24 to 18 victory over Hortonville.

There was no doubt about Seymour being the class of the tournament. It had height at center, it had rugged guards and it had forwards who couldn't miss — at least against Brillion. Seymour played wide open ball depending largely on its ability to "get their firstest with the mostest" to score. It always had several men down the floor and then had a big center to add the extra touch in the fight for the rebounds.

Gravronski Gets 20 Points
Gavronski led the Seymour team in scoring Saturday night with eight goals and four free throws for 20 points. He was uncanny at getting shots under his own bounding board and he had a very good habit of turning up at just the exact moment on a play. Adamski, his running mate, came through with 13 points on five goals and three free throws. He was watched rather closely by rugged Brillion guards but his speed and his ability to connect on long shots outside of the defense helped him add to his total.

Brillion was anything but the team to compete with a fast club like Seymour in the title game. The Calumet county team apparently lost a lot physically in its game Friday night when it was forced to the limit to beat Freedom. As a result it reacted to situations slowly and its players were guilty of fatigue which obviously were due to fatigue. There were 19 fouls on Brillion as against 11 on Seymour. And Seymour made 12 points as against 5 by Brillion.

The game opened in the most approved blitzkrieg style — and so did the second half. The opening of the contest saw 5 points scored in 45 seconds; the opening of the second half saw 4 points in 20 seconds.

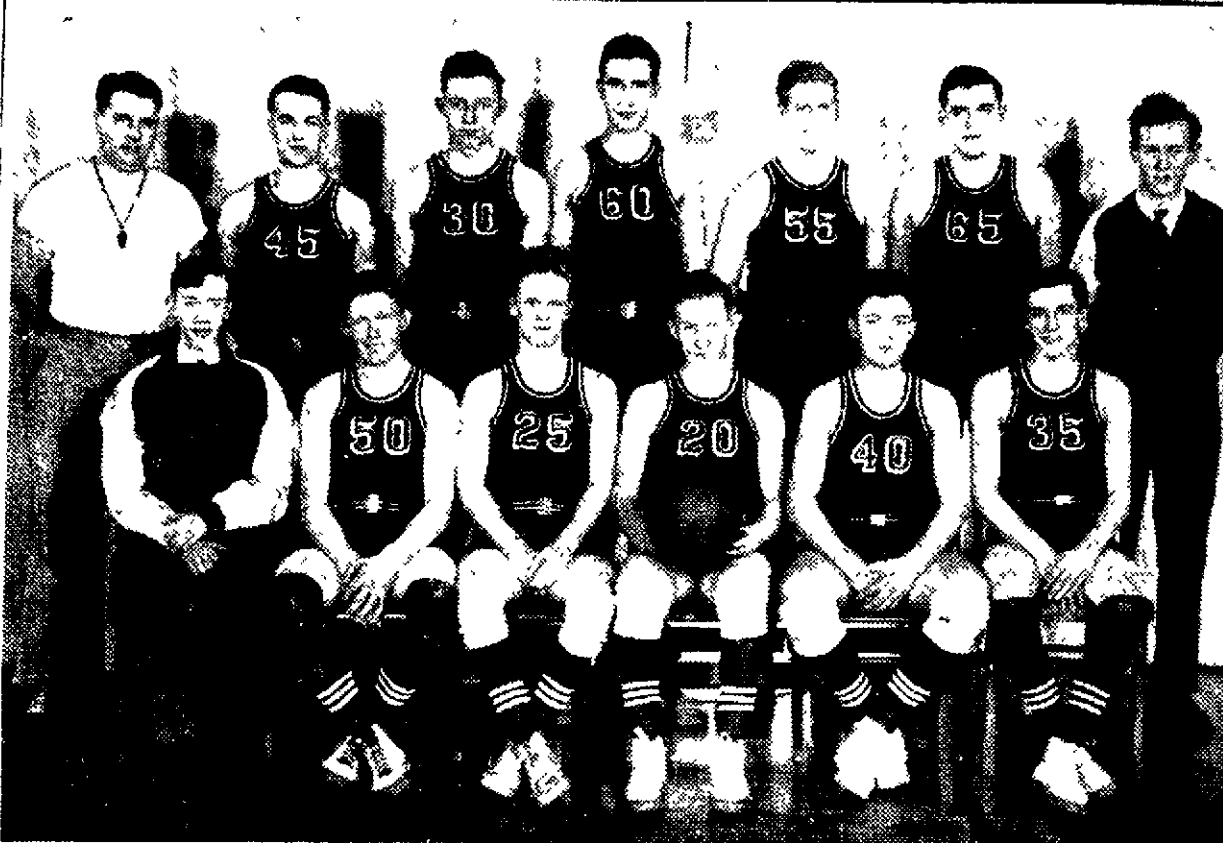

Seymour had eight points before Brillion got its first marker. With Gavronski getting six points and Adamski five, Seymour enjoyed a 14 to 3 advantage at the quarter. Knustman had only three points. Brillion had only one field goal, a long one by Jenlink. The team was getting only an occasional shot and no followups as L. Fischer, tall Seymour center, grabbed every rebound.

Lead 27-13 at Half
The second quarter was almost a repetition of the first excepting that Brillion was beginning to hit the hoop after Seymour held a 19 to 4 lead, then a 22 to 13 advantage and the half ended 27 to 13 for the leaders who were sinking almost every shot in the basket. They counted on fast breaks, they passed the ball around and then delivered the fatal stab, got a couple follow-up shots and push shots from anywhere within their half the floor.

The blitzkrieg of the third quarter brought two baskets in a rush, one on the center jump which opened the game and the other on an out of bounds play. Adamski got both the baskets. The score then was 31 to 13. Thereafter the scoring was even for the quarter which ended 42 to 23 for Seymour.

As the fourth period opened Brillion got the first basket but Seymour got two and two free throws to lead 48 to 25. Gavronski and Huettl score two points each and with the score 52 to 25, Coach Paul Loftus tossed in his entire reserve five which finished the game on even terms with Brillion. Each team got two points on a field goal.

In the third place game, a very tired Freedom squad was defeated by Wrightstown, 26 to 8. Freedom played a most disappointing game to the youngsters who comprised the squad. They'd take the ball right up to the hoop but they couldn't put it through the rim with

SHIOCTON DISTRICT BASKETBALL CHAMPIONS

Here's Seymour's high scoring basketball team which blasted its way to the championship of the Shiocton district tournament last week and now is preparing for regional play this week at Kewaunee. And then, who knows, the Indians may find themselves at Madison for the state meet. Seymour's first win at Shiocton, 40 to 28, in the final game Saturday night it maulled Brillion, 54 to 27. The picture shows, seated, left, Coach Paul Loftus, Huettl, E. Fischer, L. Fischer, LaCapitaine, Pasch and McConnell, manager.

Buckeyes Winners In Big Ten Loop

Team Scores 132 Points And Takes Title in Cage League

The Buckeyes rolled up 132 points to defeat the Wolverines, 132 to 22, and annexed the title in the eastern division of the Big Ten Basketball league Saturday at Appleton High school. The score is the highest on record at the school, the Buckeyes breaking their own previous high of 112 points.

The Hawkeyes and Maroons tied for first place in the western division of the league, the Hawkeyes winning, 60 to 21, from the Wildcats and the Maroons dropping a 22 to 20 decision to the Badgers.

The Hawkeyes and Maroons will meet Tuesday afternoon for the western division title and the winner will meet the Buckeyes next Saturday for the school championship.

In other games Saturday, the Illini defeated the Gophers in an upset, 51 to 33, and the Hoosiers won over the Boiler-makers, 50 to 17.

any more success than Uncle Sam collected World war debts. The ball just would go through and as a result Freedom got only two field goals. Wrightstown got three long boys, Finerty, Buboltz and Edinger did the heavy work for the victors.

Wrightstown took an 11 to 2 lead at the quarter, each team got a single point in the second quarter, and the third period ended 19 to 4 for Wrightstown. Freedom also showed the effects of its game with Brillion the previous night and was tired and slow.

Hortonville started out to give Winneconne a racing in the first quarter of the consolation title game but got lost along the route and dropped a 24 to 18 verdict. Hortonville held a 9 to 3 lead at the quarter but it was shaved to 11 to 10 at the half. The third quarter saw Winneconne step out with 9 points to 1 for Hortonville and sew up the victory. In the final period, Hortonville outscored Winneconne by a point but it was too late.

Seymour Assigned to the Kewaunee Regional Meet

By the Associated Press
SIXTEEN regional high school basketball tournaments this week will mark the final stage of qualifying play for the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic association's state meet, to be held at Madison March 12 to 15.

Under the new W.I.A.A. tournament plan, the smaller schools played in district competition last week, the 32 winners advancing to the regional events, two to each meet.

The larger schools, which formerly competed in separate tournaments under Class A or B, have been assigned to the various regional meets. Rhinelander, last year's Class A champion, will play at Antigo, and Watertown, 1939 Class B winner, will compete at Portage.

Seven teams which won Class C district honors last year repeated in the district tournaments during the weekend. They were Cornell, Cuba City, Onalaska, Pardeeville, Seymour, Soldiers Grove and Walworth.

High lights of the final district games Saturday night included: New Glarus' 52 to 18 win over Brodhead in the Brodhead meet. Strickler, New Glarus forward, scored 19 points.

Seymour's 54 to 27 triumph over Brillion in the Shiocton tourney. A hard-fought 19 to 18 victory for Fall Creek over Cadott, which had eliminated the 1939 Class C state titleholder, Altoona, in the Eau Claire district.

SATURDAY'S SCORES

Deltas 28, Zephyrs 23.
Bucs 27, Titans 26.

FOLLOWERS of the American division of the Older Boy league at the Y. M. C. A. are predicting dire things for the first place Comets if they don't do better than Saturday when they copped a 17 to 8 decision from the Staggs.

The opening quarter saw the Staggs take a 4 to 2 lead and when the half time came around the Staggs had 6 points and the Comets still had their 2. In the third period the Comets clicked for 8 points and held the Staggs to 1. The Comets then 10 to 7. In the final period the losers got another point while the Comets garnered seven and a 17 to 8 victory.

Deltas won their second game in a row in defeating the Zephyrs, 28 to 23. The Deltas' passing was almost perfect and Nolan's bulk and Larson's speed came in handy on defense. Deltas led 9 to 3 at the quarter, 11 to 10 at the half, and 21 to 19 at the third quarter. Larson scored 14 points for the Deltas and West 8 for the Zephyrs.

Bucs eked out a 27 to 26 victory over the Titans in the other game. The Titans held a 14 to 6 advantage at the quarter and then were struck with over-confidence and saw their lead cut to 16 to 14 at the half.

In the third quarter, they were a point behind with the Bucs holding a 19 to 18 lead which they nursed to a 27 to 26 win. Luck, Bucs' forward, who counted 11 points for the game as did McGuire, scored a basket for his team in the final minutes, which gave him a club a point lead. The Titans came back with a free throw to tie the count at 26-26. Smith tossed a free throw to give the Bucs the win.

Bits About Bowling by Dick Davis

HERE were some high-powered matches blasted over at Arcade alleys this week that merit more than passing mention.

Helmut Sheet Metals hammered a total of 3,119 pins to take two games from Al Utisch and Son, who joined a total of 3,019, in a Builders league tussle. The winners counted games scores of 917, 1,020 and a big 1,183 while the losers clattered singles of 1,033, 973 and 1,113. There's lots of timber in them thar scores. Joe Herman paced the victors with a whopping 278 game and a 626 series, getting 170 and 173 in his first two efforts. There wasn't, however, another 600 series in the bunch.

Two Merchant league teams are still scratching their collective heads and wonder just what they have to do to win a match.

Hughes and Bendt pinsters battered a high team total of 3,092 on games of 1,042, 1,001 and 1,048 but lost two games to Checker Lunch. The latter totaled 3,055 on games of 971, 1,026 and 1,058. Miller High Life whammed a series of 3,034 but dropped two games to Clover Farm Stores with a score of 3,015. The latter totaled games of 1,005, 1,023 and 998 while the losers collected 962, 989 and 1,083.

The City Major league is a good example of bowling and how it should be done. Practically every topnotcher of the city competes in this scratch circuit and it's worth the while of any kegler to ankle over to the Arcade at 8 o'clock some Tuesday evening and pick up a few pointers, at the same time getting a glimpse of high class pin toppling. What impressed us most was the cool deliberation evidenced by practically all of the men. They take their time and squeeze out every possible pin. We think the average bowler is guilty of hurrying his shots and could avoid many of those blows which pull down his score by following suit.

WATCH THE BIRDS!
Can picture taking time and the Post-Crescent is anxious to get shots of the championship teams in the various leagues. In previous years there has been some difficulty in getting together on arrangements so this year we're asking league secretaries or team captains to notify the sports department as soon as a championship is decided and when a picture of the team can be taken.

Bud Stach was well on his way to a 700 series after pocking games of 246 and 247 but succumbed to a 167 in his third effort for a 656 total. A. Cohen of the Tuttle Press team averaged 6.4 pins per frame in an industrial league match. — Just a nice way of saying that he had a 64 game. — C. Hoffman of F. Hoffman and Sons opened with a 136 and wound up with a 247 in the Builders league. — J. Delroy of Nolan Insurance cleaned up a 5-7-9 split in an American city league tiff at YMCA alleys. —

Steel, Aircraft Stocks Rise but Others are Lazy

Numerous Issues Continue to Doze in Narrow Territory

New York—(U.S.D.A.)—Steel and aircraft stocks tilted forward in today's stock market but numerous issues continued to doze in narrow territory.

It was another of those sessions when neither good nor bad news seemed to have much effect on speculative sentiment. The majority of traders leaned toward small commitments either way and, except for a few low-priced issues, sluggishness prevailed throughout.

The approximately 450,000 shares which changed hands in the five hours of trading today were counted for a stable proportion. This stock turned over in 10,000-share blocks and advanced 12 1/2 cents at 37 1/2 cents a share in the forenoon.

Gains of fractions to about a point were fairly well distributed at the close, but numerous issues finished a shade behind or at the same as Saturday's final quotations.

An officially estimated drop in this week's steel mill operations of 1.3 points at 64 1/2 per cent of capacity failed to trip up stocks in this group, although most ended under the day's tops. The production decline had been expected.

Bonds were moderately steady, as were commodities. Wheat at Chicago was off 1/4 to 1/2 of a cent a bushel but corn was unchanged at 1 1/2. Cotton, in late transactions, was up 25 to 40 cents a bale. European securities markets were mixed.

BY TOM SILER
CHICAGO.—(7)—The Big Ten basketball season ends tonight with a five-game schedule, but six teams will be playing for nothing more important than the exercise.

Purdue must defeat Illinois tonight to win undisputed possession of the title. If Illinois wins, as did Indiana under similar conditions Saturday, then Purdue will be forced to share top honors with the winner of the Indiana-Ohio State battle.

The season's biggest crowd was anticipated at Champaign to watch the battle between the brilliant Bill Hapac and his in-and-out mates and the consistently stellar Purdue crew. Both lost their Saturday games. While Indiana was whipping the Boilermakers, LaFayette, Iowa was dumping the Illini, 62 to 47, at Iowa City.

These two losses set the stage for a colorful and spirited conflict tonight. Coach Ward Lambert, shooting for Purdue's thirteenth win or a tie for conference championship, planned to start three sophomores and two seniors against the Illini. Purdue's defense stopped Illinois once before and there is no apparent reason why it can't be done again. The choice must be Purdue in a very close contest unless you expect Hapac to run wild, which is unlikely against Fred Beretta, Purdue captain and ace guard.

Other games and forecasts: Ohio State (8-3) at Indiana (8-3); the Hoosiers get the call here, especially since the Bucks defeated them a short time ago. It should be tight and fairly close. The winner can't finish worse than second and might get a tie for the championship.

Chicago (1-10) at Wisconsin (2-9): We'll take the Badgers in this battle of the tail-enders. A win for the Maroons would give them a tie for ninth place with the Badgers.

Northwestern (4-5) at Iowa (4-7): Figuring Iowa for a letdown after beating the Illini, the Wildcats are our choice in a close and high scoring game.

Michigan (5-6) at Minnesota (5-6): Only because they're playing at home we'll take Minnesota in what looks to be another toss-up.

Oshkosh, 'Skins Tied for Honors

Western Division Teams Will Start 3-Game Playoff Tuesday

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh.—The Oshkosh All-Stars will meet the Sheboygan Redskins here Tuesday night in the first of a three-game playoff to settle the championship of the Western division of the National Basketball league. The All-Stars' 46 to 41 victory over the Akron Firestones last Saturday night gave the Oshkosh team a first place tie with the Sheboygan squad.

The All Stars held a comfortable lead throughout the game, turning back a last period rally to win by the narrow margin of five points. Akron made 21 points in the final quarter, one point more than its total for the first three periods, while Oshkosh was held to only 11 points.

Connie Mack Berry of the All Stars, who moved up to center from a forward position, was high point man of the game with 14 points. Leroy "Lefty" Edwards, star center of Oshkosh and Herm Witasek, the All Stars ace guard, played only half of the last quarter as they were recovering from colds. Edwards sank two free throws to establish a new conference record of 352 points.

The Firestones were held to four points during the first quarter, all of three free throws, while Berry and "Scoop" Putnam accounted for 12 of the 15 points the Oshkosh team received during the same period. "Scoop" Cable of the invading team tipped in six points to bring the Akron score to 13 while Oshkosh ended the half with 27 markers.

The two teams alternated baskets during the third period until the score stood at 35 to 20 in favor of the All Stars. Then the Firestone combination of Hassmiller and Wolkovitch started a last period rally of 21 points by getting 11 and 8 points, respectively, bringing the score at the end of the game to 46 to 41.

Lawrence Thinly Clads Take 9½ Points at North Central

With Vincent Jones, Appleton, taking second place in the shot put after leading until the final throw, Lawrence college tracksters took 9½ points at the fourth annual midwest intercollegiate indoor track meet at North Central college, Naperville, Ill., Saturday. Only four Vikings were entered in the meet and their point total was better than Grinnell, Cornell and Carleton but less than Coe of the Midwest conference.

Kang, State Teachers finished first and second, respectively. Lawrence's points rated it seventh.

Jones tossed the shot 45 feet, 11 inches and was a half inch short of the record. He led the field until Dave Schrader, Pittsburg Teachers and holder of the records set last year, got off a push that netted him 45 feet, 6 inches for first place and a new record. It was Schrader's last toss.

Ralph Colvin, Appleton, was timed third in the half mile. He ran in the first of the four heats and finished in front without being pressed in 2 minutes, 5 seconds. Loyola and Butler runners had the best times.

Jim Orwig took a tie for third and fourth in the pole vault with 12 feet. He barely missed on 12½ feet. Keith Nelson, the other Lawrence pole vaulter, made 11½ feet and failed to place.

Milwaukee.—(7)—Flashy Bobby Deneen, senior forward from Harvard, Ill., topped the Marquette sult of the bout he lost to Sammy Angott, of Louisville, here last Friday night.

Commission Chairman Ray Sherry said the members were of the opinion "that Breese did not give his best efforts and that he was guilty of repeated infractions of the rules."

The commission directed Secretary Fred Saddy to investigate whether George Ades still is Breese's manager. Ades is under suspension in Wisconsin.

LEARWATER, FLA.—For the first time in the club's history, the Brooklyn Dodgers started charging admission to intra-squad practice maneuvers today, showing that President Leland Stanford MacPhail still is figuring the angles. To give the customers a ride for their money the Dodgers will stage a nine-inning game today.

Anaheim, Calif.—It looks like that $25,000 Connie Mack paid Memphis last fall for pitcher Herman Besse may pay dividends for the Philadelphia Athletics this season.

Besse pitched hitless ball for three innings yesterday as the A's trounced Seattle of the Pacific coast league, 6-3, in the first exhibition game of 1940.

Winter Haven, Fla.—Steve Tramback, who won 21 games as a pitcher and filled in afield for Fort Smith last year, isn't fast enough to make good as a pitcher in the opinion of Manager Bill Terry of the New York Giants.

"I'm giving him a first baseman's mitt from now on," said Terry.

Pasadena, Calif.—The second squad of the Chicago White Sox is due here today and is expected to bring the camp roll to full strength with the exception of pitcher Clint Brown, a holdout. Taft Wright, outfielder obtained from Washington, featured yesterday's workout with his heavy hitting.

Miami Beach, Fla.—Some observers around the Phillies camp think the tail-enders' catching staff this year will be the strongest since the days of Jimmy Wilson.

Bill Atwood, greatly improved after a season at Jersey City, is ticketed for first-string duty by Manager Doc Prothro; with Ben Warren, a Baltimore rookie; Walt Millies and Joe Kracher.

ing Lourdes to a single counter in the third quarter, the Zephyrs got it themselves to convincingly salt the ball game. Lourdes got only one basket in the fourth quarter while St. Mary made six to win the biggest margin the first day. Johnson had 13 points for scoring honors.

A hot contest developed in the first evening game as St. Norbert, defending champion, nosed out Edgewood, 35 to 31, and wound up the ball game by playing with only three men. Although they were headed only once, that in the first quarter, the Squires had their hands full stopping the constant Edgewood thrusts at the hoop.

The fourth quarter of the game was football, plain and simple, with three Squires being ejected from the fray with personals and another getting the gate with an Edgewood player after a little set-to in which a deal of sparring, but no damage was done. St. Norbert also lost a man via the personal route in the first quarter.

Aquinas looked classy both offensively and defensively in defeating St. Peter, 35 to 23. The outcome never was in doubt after the first quarter, which ended 9 to 2 for the LaCrosse team. Long and husky Aquinas had things pretty much its own way during the 32 minutes of play although St. Peter got 10 points to Aquinas's six in the last quarter.

Orlando, Fla.—It is an irony of baseball, but the Washington Senators are looking to Ben Washell, whom they gave up on last season, to be their regular first baseman this year.

Clark Griffith sent Washell back to the minors in May, 1939, and told Minneapolis to make an outfielder of him. He never has played first base since leaving the Senators' camp, but right now he is ranked above J. Vernon and Jack Sanford.
